Company Name: Bureau of Consumer Services

Description: The economy hasn't fully recovered yet, and your personal finances are in the dump. You decided to borrow money from a lender- the wrong kind, perhaps. And now you're being hounded by the debt collector. We, at the Bureau of Consumer Services aim to educate you- and others like you- of your rights, when faced with debt collectors and harassment. We will look into your case, and may file a suit against the debt collector or creditor. Furthermore, we ensure that your creditors follow the Fair Debt Collection Practices Act. This Act was enacted to protect those in debt, and the Federal Trade Commission offers its protection to the same. The FDCPA also covers debts of all kinds- not just the personal one. So, if you find yourself in a tangle with your debt collector, get in touch with us at <http://www.bureaucs.com/>, and we'll help you out.
